A vital stepping-stone project

Develop a ScotWind ready supply chain but significant opportunity in its own right

100MW 35km East of Peterhead

Realistic size of project for near term delivery without the investment required to fully industrialise production of foundations

Construction towards the end of the decade

We have achieved key milestones that enables the project and supply chain to deliver the near term.

Delivered by a strong joint venture

The JV partners can draw upon experience from 13 operational windfarms and recent delivery of Seagreen

Developed to support the supply chain

Our successful INTOG bid was built around providing opportunities for the Scottish Supply chain. We are your stepping-stone project

Examples of Engagement to date

Powered by Ørsted and
Simply Blue Group

Open door policy

We operate an open-door policy with all suppliers – we have met with over 120 suppliers in the past 12 months from SMEs through to the largest tier one contractors

Innovation Pathway

Innovation pathway yielded over 90 responses led to 23 active projects with ongoing collaboration with other Innovation projects via NZTC innovation network

Focused engagement with key suppliers

Focusing on key project risks we have provided opportunities for the supply chain to collaborate and provide solutions

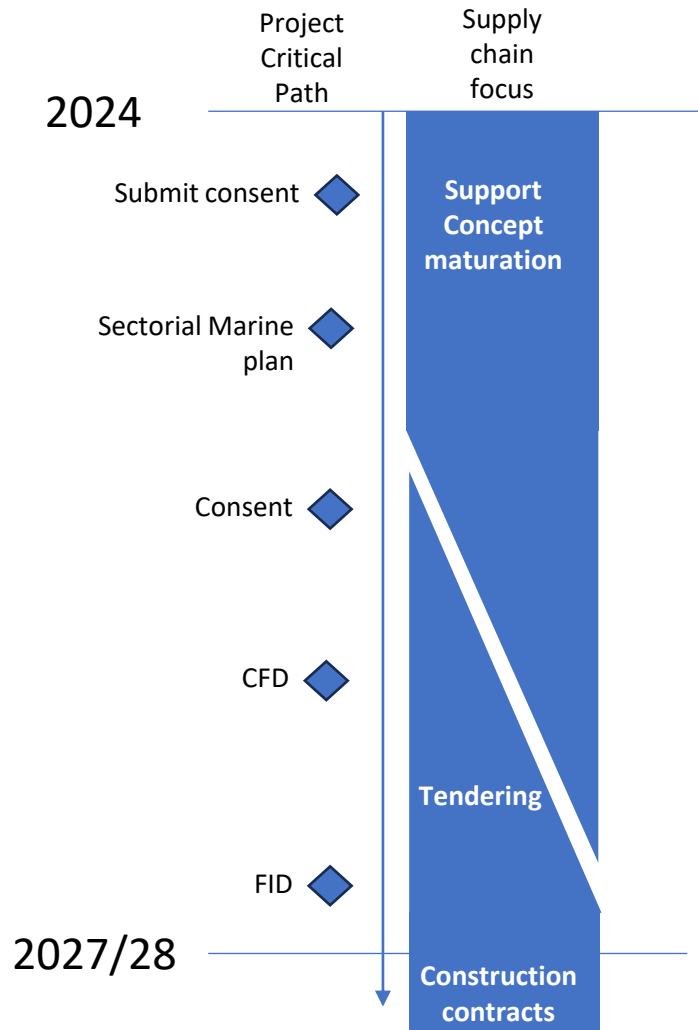

Scottish Enterprise

We are working with Scottish Enterprise to maximise our reach within the supply chain. We are sharing information with them so they can support the Scottish supply chain

Key takeaways

Powered by Ørsted and
Simply Blue Group

Delivering on time is essential but there are uncertainties and challenges on our critical path

This will require some flexibility from the supply chain

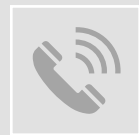

Engage with Scottish Enterprise

We work closely with Scottish Enterprise to develop the supply chain and they will be able to help you find your place in the supply chain

We are currently focused on concept maturation – we want to collaborate to reduce risk

This includes our technical and commercial concept – now is the time to engage and influence our strategy

We want to speak to you to collaborate
